Allied Digital and LANDesk Software to Offer World Class MSP Management Solution

Alliance Combines Cloud-Based Capabilities with Excellence in Desktop Management Solutions

GARDENA, Calif.--(BUSINESS WIRE)--Allied Digital Services Ltd. (BSE: 532875), a leading global IT services and solutions company, today announced an alliance with LANDesk Software, a global leader in systems lifecycle management, endpoint security and IT service management. The relationship will provide Allied Digital customers with a cloud-based solution that can quickly reduce costs and increase IT productivity.

Allied Digital will provide cloud based desktop management solutions utilizing LANDesk Software technologies. The LANDesk® desktop management solution is suitable for a range of customers including mid-sized businesses to global enterprises. In contrast to a traditional own-and-operate model, the new cloud-based managed service will offer customers rapid no-risk implementations and on-going operations as a subscription based operating expense in contrast to a resource-intensive capital expenditure and in-house labor model.

“LANDesk was an easy choice for Allied Digital to further develop our cloud based desktop management practice,” said Sunil Bhatt, Chief Technology Officer of Allied Digital and the technical architect of the cloud based solution. “As a key component of our Integrated Delivery Framework, LANDesk enables us to reduce our customers’ PC lifecycle support costs by as much as 40% while increasing user productivity and protecting the company from security vulnerabilities and compliance issues.”

“Allied Digital has an impressive end-to-end desktop management platform, delivering and operating LANDesk technologies as a service. We selected Allied Digital because of its proven track record as a leading managed services provider and for its expertise in providing cloud based solutions,” said Nolan Rosen, LANDesk Vice President of Partnering and Alliances. “We are excited to have this valuable and trusted relationship with an organization that enables customers to purchase LANDesk solutions via a cloud-based model.”

The Allied Digital Remote Desktop Management Solution is currently available to end-users. The solution provides patch management, asset management, software license compliance, power management, end-point security protection, remote takeover, and device monitoring and alerting. The private-cloud based service delivery model offers customers a rapid no-risk implementation and a lower cost of ongoing operations, all as an operating expense.
